About this Learning Opportunity

This session, which is open to ALL interested teachers and others, provides teachers engaged in the ERLC/UofA's 2023-2024 EDU 595 cohort with an online venue to showcase edtech tools that have been especially valuable in their work with students and/or colleagues.

If you are not part of the cohort, you're invited to please come and join us to learn from the valuable wisdom of this year's group. If this year's presentation is like those of the past two years, know that this will be time well spent for all, a true celebration of the impact that effective integration of technology can have on student learning.

See you there!
